Tepato Systems offers software consulting services to help small business owners and non-profit groups.

If you want to make better business decisions, software and other technology tools should be key parts of your business strategy.

Avoid Spam with a Temporary Email Account

Use it for Online Shopping and More

If you're making a purchase online and want to avoid future spam, you can use the guerrillamail.com website to register for a temporary email account. It's a free service, and you'll be able to use the email address to receive email for about 15 minutes and send them for about 60 minutes. Then the account will disappear and you'll never have to use it again.
